The BAMA Players

The Birmingham Art Music Alliance is an autonomous nonprofit organization with the twofold mission of promoting music by Alabama composers and presenting concerts of recently created art music to communities in Birmingham and beyond. Members include local composers, professional performers, students, and enthusiasts who wish to preserve and maintain the long tradition of music as a living art form.

The BAMA Players – clarinetist/saxophonist Lori Ardovino, cellist Craig Hultgren, and pianist Adam Bowles – present programs highlighting Alabama composers, including works by Lori Ardovino, Todd Gabriel, Aurelia Gooden, John Hopkins, James A. Jensen, Cynthia Miller, Bryan Page, Matthew Scott Phillips, and Ed Robertson.
